For those of you who didn't have a chance to attend The Baby Show NYC this past weekend, I had promised to come back and report about what the hottest new baby trends are this season. In attendance were 50 of the most sought after baby gear brands, some that you most likely have heard of and some that you'll be delighted to find out about.

Pour Deux, French for "for two", offers these beautifully packaged monthly maternity candles. These 100% soy wax candles give off a light and refreshing baby powder scent, each one with a different month on the label along with a short description of the typical characteristics of babies born in that month, making Pour Deux candles the perfect gift for any mommy-to-be. "When illuminating this beautiful dual-wick candle, she will reflect on the beauty within and gain insight into the characteristics of her future child." \$38/each at www.maternityfortwo.com

I bought the maternity baby to be candle for my best friend for her birthday. She loved it! She cried when she read the personality traits of her new baby. If you know anyone who is pregnant or anyone who just gave birth, this is a really meaningful gift. Definitely recommend it! maternityfortwo.com
